BIBLE THOUGHT

TO UNDERSTAND:—Make me to understand the way of thy precepts; so shall I talk of thy wondrous works. —Psalm 119:27.

FOR THE RED CROSS

We are confident that the people of Rockland, now that their attention has been arrested by the suggestion that the work of the local Red Cross might have to be withdrawn for lack of funds, will not suffer such a loss to fall upon our city. Already there is being organized committees for the budget raising campaign set for next Monday, and from every side come notes of encouragement to those who have been charged with the responsibility of directing the work in the past and whose ambition is to see it continue with growing success in the future. That the needy ones of the city shall not have withdrawn from them the ministrations of the bedside nurse, and that the greater efficiency of the coming generation may be insured through the guarded health of the boys and girls of the public schools, is the thing at which this coming campaign is directed and in which public-spirited citizens will participate—a small part of them as canvassers, the great part of them as cheerful givers in a splendid cause.

The following public-spirited citizens are to direct the active work of the Red Cross budget campaign, surrounding themselves with groups of efficient assistants:

Ward 1—Mrs. Katherine Derry.
Ward 2—Mrs. William Ellingwood.
Ward 3—H. N. McDougall.
Ward 4—Rev. W. S. Rounds.
Ward 5—Postmaster Blochen.
Ward 6—Henry B. Bird.
Ward 7—Mrs. E. L. Brown.
Main Street—Carl H. Duff.

The first subscription to the Red Cross budget campaign, in the form of a $5 check, has been received by The Courier-Gazette, from Miss Mattie F. McAllister, with direction to pass it on to the canvassing committee. Any other subscriptions sent to this office will be properly acknowledged.

Lovers of Stevenson—they are a steadily increasing legion—will give a particularly warm welcome to the latest book dealing with their favorite author and bearing the unique title, "I Can Remember Robert Louis Stevenson." Much biography of the great Scotch writer has been printed in the twenty-nine years since his too-early death, and there will be more of it, for the subject never ceases to fascinate, but this book must stand unique, for it consists of recollections by persons yet living who have had personal contact with the boy and man who remains such an interesting figure in the world of literature and romance. Reading its one hundred chapters, some long, some of the shortest, one gets intimate views of Stevenson from a multitude of varying angles, throwing an informing light upon his struggles and development as one of the great—certainly the most interesting—writers of our period. The book must have a particular place amid the growing Stevensoniana to be found in the library of every reading man. It is edited by Rosaline Masson for the Robert Louis Stevenson Club of Edinburgh and is brought out in this country by the Frederick A. Stokes Co. of New York.

The Camden & Rockland Water Co.'s reservoir on Juniper Hill, near the Rockland Country Club, is 100 feet below the level of the pond from which it receives its supply, and this fact calls for a regulating device to keep it from overflowing. Gates housed underground in a pit are in need of repairs, and the company has in mind to provide an attractive superstructure, more in keeping with the surrounding premises when the repairs are made. Architects have made a sketch which admirably answers the purpose. Whether the work will be done this season or next is something that will depend upon circumstances, one of which is the amount of expense involved.

SEES SUCCESSFUL FUTURE

I. M. Taylor Visited Rockland Yesterday and Is Confident That Fish Industry Will Be a Winner.

Confident that the Deep Sea Fisheries, Inc., will yet have the full measure of success originally planned for it as an East Coast proposition, and gratified at the progress which is being made under the present capable management, I. M. Taylor of New York was in the city for a few hours yesterday, accompanied by Mrs. Taylor, and freely discussed the prospects of the industry.

An absence of two years, spent mainly under the sunny skies of Pasadena, Fla., has operated manifestly to the physical advantage of both Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, who have come back to the Maine coast the picture of health, and a convincing demonstration that the Florida climate, particularly the Pasadena kind, will work the wonders that are claimed for it.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have been spending part of the summer at Bar Harbor, running over occasionally to Brooklyn. They journeyed here with a view to joining friends in Bath or Portland for a yachting cruise, and received a cordial greeting.

The exploitation of the Pasadena Estates in which Mr. Taylor has for some time been interested, is developing wonderfully, as already intimated in The Courier-Gazette's interviews with Mayor Brown and other returned Northerners. It gives every promise of becoming one of the most popular residential sections of Florida for those who go to that State to spend the winter. Mr. Taylor's efforts there will occupy at least another winter by which time the Pasadena Estates will have become fairly embarked on their successful career.

A reporter of The Courier-Gazette found Mr. Taylor at the Thorndike Hotel and the subject turned naturally to the industry which Mr. Taylor established.

"Rockland should logically control the fish business of the Atlantic Coast," said Mr. Taylor. "Here is the product near at hand, weather cool—ideal conditions for fish packing. With the Chippewa system perfected the shipping problem has been absolutely solved. Just as the refrigerator car solved it for other packers."

"In the Middle Western States and the Eastern section of the country are the large centers of population, which want and require this product in fresh form, and still they are not getting it."

"This company has good management now and I do really expect that it will have fully the success that was originally expected of the industry and planned for it, because the competitors in the business are very weak ones, and because they have obsolete methods and equipment. This is the last big industry in the United States to be efficiently organized. From some things which I have learned and observed I believe that this company with its perfect location; its strictly modern ships and extensive plant equipment; and its splendid management, has, with even moderate financing, a clearer field to almost phenomenal success than any other industrial concern I know of. Its problems are all settled, and the company is faced with only such requirements as confront all other companies, namely, the necessity for pushing on. What company can do well by lying down?"

"Barring internal friction in the original organization this Rockland industry would be today an outstanding success among the more important industries of the country. I am delighted to find it in such good hands. I was particularly glad to see that the trawlers and plant are being kept in such fine condition."

The interview left no doubt as to the interest which Mr. Taylor feels in the industry he brought here, and the keenness with which he has watched developments.

CARS IN COLLISION

Bad Accident On Thomaston Road Sunday Night—Albert W. Day In Hospital.

One of the worst automobile accidents which has happened in Knox county this summer took place near the Dexter street waiting station on the Thomaston road early Sunday evening, when two Dort cars met in a terrific head-on collision.

One of the cars was a roadster, owned and driven by Albert W. Day, a rural mail carrier, who is more familiarly known to hundreds of acquaintances by his boyhood nickname of "Reddy." His companion was Sylvester O. Thorndike, a well known parcel delivery man. They were going to Thomaston.

The other machine was a touring car owned by the keeper of the Burnt Island Life Saving Station, and driven by his son, Willard Mills. He was accompanied by Maynard Condon of Friendship, a former Rockland boy. This car was coming from Tenant's Harbor.

A reporter of The Courier-Gazette, who chanced upon the scene within a few seconds after the collision found the roadster on the street, facing toward Rockland, and a complete wreck. Nearby, face downward upon the highway, and unconscious, Mr. Day was lying. Mr. Thorndike had a bruise on his forehead, and one of his arms was slightly injured, but that either occupant of the roadster had escaped being killed outright was a marvel, for the machine was thrown nearly 75 feet from the point where the collision took place, and is said to have turned over and over.

Neither occupant of the touring car received injuries of consequence. One of the forward wheels was broken off and the front part of the machine was more or less damaged.

A telephone message from the nearest residence brought the Bowes-Crozier ambulance, in which Mr. Day was removed to Knox Hospital. Latest reports do not indicate that he has any broken bones, but an x-ray will be taken today to show what injuries his back may have sustained. He has complained of much pain there.

AT PLEASANT BEACH

Memorial Services For Late President Harding Held In Grove Near Gould Cottage.

One of the most impressive memorial services held in this vicinity Friday afternoon, in honor of the late President, Warren G. Harding, took place at Pleasant Beach, South Thomaston in the grove outside the Gould cottage.

The side veranda made an ideal platform for the impromptu choir with Summer A. Gould of Wellesley Hills, Mass., at the organ, and for the speaker, Rev. Mr. Anderson of Ludlow, Mass.

Wind and tide were hushed, a soft graveness blurred the brightness of the August day as though in sympathy with the occasion, and the flag hung motionless at half-mast as the gathering of 65 citizens of various States joined in the brief effecting service. The Doxology was followed by a few words by Mr. Anderson and the reading of the 90th Psalm, then came Mr. Harding's favorite hymn, "Lead Kindly Light," a prayer, "Nearer My God to Thee," and the benediction.

This simple heartfelt observance of the nation's sorrow was in keeping with the kindly sincere nature of the country's beloved dead, and brought to those participating the feeling—"It was good for us to have been here."

The Otis street sewer is completed, much to the relief of Road Commissioner Ross and detriment of the sewer fund. The short stretch—425 feet—cost the city approximately $1900, due to the fact that so much blasting was necessary.

COL. GASTON HERE

Bay State Leader Says Western Bloc Will Not Let Coolidge Have Nomination.

Col. William A. Gaston, who has been honored by the Democratic party of Massachusetts with nominations for governor and United States Senator, was in the city yesterday for a few hours, accompanied by one of his daughters. They were on their way to the foothills of the White Mountains, where they were to join Mrs. Gaston and another daughter. While in Europe recently Mrs. Gaston was bitten by a poisonous insect and has had considerable trouble in consequence. This is one of the reasons why the Gaston cottage at North Haven is not open this season for the second time since it was built about 30 years ago.

Col. Gaston had only a few moments to spare but he did not shy when a Courier-Gazette reporter fired a few questions of a political nature at him. "Will President Coolidge receive the Republican nomination for the Presidency?" he was asked.

"No sir," was the prompt and emphatic reply. "The Western bloc will not permit it. Johnson, Borah, Smoot and others will see to it that the nomination goes to a Western man." "Will Coolidge be a candidate?" "Yes, and he will have considerable strength, but not enough to nominate him."

"Who will be the Democratic choice?" "Oh, there are lots of probable candidates, and I am afraid I am no prophet when it comes to answering that question. At the present time Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama is the most likely candidate. The thing that would operate against him is that he is a Southerner, and there are lots of folks who think that Jefferson Davis and Abraham Lincoln are still living."

WINIFRED FALES' NEW BOOK

Former Rockland Girl Adds a Third Volume To Her Works on House-keeping.

"The Easy Housekeeping Book" is the third volume by Winifred Shaw Fales dealing with a subject ever old and ever new. Its clever dedication—"To housewives everywhere, who prefer accomplishment to dismal drudgery, knowledge to guesswork, easy ways to hard ways, fun to frown, and to whom the most beautiful word in the language is that one of only four letters, 'H-O-M-E'."—suggests the scope of the book, whose contents are divided into ten chapters: The magic word; Starting the budget at the other end; The leak in the pocketbook; Cutting corners; Making over the kitchen; Servants that work without wages; Doing versus dawdling; The renovation and care of floors and woodwork; Furnishing the home on the easy housekeeping plan; Things to remember in planning the new home. Here are grouped many wise suggestions on a great variety of themes that make for the practical carrying on of the home. Mrs. Fales' long experience on the editorial staffs of Good Housekeeping, the Ladies' Home Journal and similar publications qualify her to deal with high intelligence with these matters so essential to successful home management.

"The Easy Housekeeping Book" should be on the shelf of every ambitious housekeeper, alongside Mrs. Fales' other books which are assumed already there—her "Home Furnishing Styles" and "The Household Dictionary." Small, Maynard & Co. of Boston have published the book in very attractive form, with a large number of half-tone illustrations. It can be had in Rockland at the Huston-Tuttle bookstore.

IN THE WORLD OF BASEBALL

Challenge Series Between Snobs and All-League Begins Tonight—Camden Loses To Pejepscots, Who Will Play Rockland At Oakland Friday.

I SAW WILLIS KNOWLTON

at Saturday's game between Camden and the Pejepscots. Willis and I have passed the time of day at many scores of games in the past 30 years, and they were not all on the Camden ground either, for Willis is a dived in the wool fan and we have chased the diamond stars to Warren, Thomaston and Rockland, as well, on many a glorious occasion. Sometimes we entertained opposite opinions as to how the games would come out, and at the close we would exchange something beside the time of day. But I never found Willis Knowlton anything but the hail fellow well met. I hope always to find him on the side-lines when I go to Camden.—The Sporting Editor.

Challenge Series Begins

Unable to dodge the jinx the Twilight League has passed out of existence for the present season, and in its place will be a challenge series of seven games between the Snobs, managed by Harry Kenniston; and a team selected from the Texacos, Electric and Lime Company and managed by A. C. McLoon. The collections will be divided 60 and 40.

The Snobs have won universal admiration for their playing for several seasons, and would easily have won the league championship had the season been continued. But what Kenniston's ponies will be able to do when arrayed against the cream of these other teams is a matter of conjecture. The first of the seven games will be played at 6:15 tonight, and the lineup will probably be:

SUPPORT RED CROSS WORK IN ROCKLAND HOMES AND SCHOOLS

ation was fatal: the end inevitable. Willey, who was sent to the mound for Camden, pitched splendid ball for Hebron Academy last spring, and with oceans of speed has the earmarks of some day being a valuable box-man. His chief difficulty at the present time is a vivid imagination that batters are 10 feet tall and that the ball should be pitched at least a foot higher than that altitude. That hallucination inspired him to give six bases on balls. Yet Willey's work was a strange composite of good and bad. He was wild one moment, but so effective in the next that the loyal crowd set up a decided remonstrance when Captain Cottrell came in from the field for the apparent purpose of effecting a change. It should be remembered that the Hebron Academy boy was pitching out of his class, just as Elmer Rising was when he went into the box against the Star Taxis in Lewiston. The verdict should be deferred.

The visitors brought along Carleton, who has been seen so often in Camden this season that he is no longer a stranger. He was in fine form except in that sixth inning, when with two down, Cottrell's triple, Wardwell's double and singles by Curt S. Bok and Murray earned three runs. If Camden thought this meant disintegration on the part of the Pejepscot pitcher another guess was forthcoming, for in the remaining innings a solitary single was all the home team got. Reviewing a losing game is no happy task for the local chronicler, but praise must not be withheld from such a gallant team as the Pejepscots which had a sterling battery in Carleton and Willey; and an undoubted star in shortstop McKnight. Palement, the third baseman, did not line up to expectations as a batter. Last Wednesday in Brunswick he made six hits in six times up—two of them home runs. Saturday he failed to make a safety off Willey, and to the delight of the crowd fanned twice.

It must not be supposed that all of the good work was on one side. Curtis Bok again covered first in irreproachable style, and turned in two of Camden's seven hits. Wardwell and Chandler each started with an error, but more than offset their misplays by their subsequent brilliant work. Chandler made a startling stop of Carleton's ferocious grounder and would have retired his man had he not lost his balance. Murray had little work, but did that little well. Derham made two fine catches in right field, one of them after a long, hard run.

The Camden games are drawing big crowds, and Saturday's disaster will by no means dampen the fans' ardor.

THE NEW DODGE, Many Changes In the Latest Model — It Rides Like a Cradle.

Marked improvement in appearance and comfort is apparent in the new line of Dodge Brothers Motor Cars, in the production of which the factory has been gathering momentum since July 1. Hundreds of dealers are now supplied with display cars of the new type, and from every source the factory is receiving reports of enthusiastic approval by the public.

While the basic characteristics of the familiar Dodge Brothers cars of recent days are still present, there is an air of distinctiveness that surpasses all previous efforts of this concern to build a moderately priced car of commendable appearance as well as quality. The wheelbase is a trifle longer, the body is lower and the rear springs changed to semi-elliptical type are underslung, and increased from 45 to 55 inches in length.

The effect of the longer and lower body and longer wheelbase, combined with the new lines and lower seats, is very fine. According to dealers and others who have driven the new cars, the improvement in riding qualities is no less pronounced than the improvement in general design. The reduction in body height lowers the center of gravity and thereby reduces sideway, while rebound shocks are effectively dissipated by the improved front and rear springs. The car holds the road easily and gracefully and affords real riding comfort.

The rear seat and all upholstery of the touring car are removable, affording a large space for loading luggage or other articles. Seats in all types are deeper and lower, adding to comfort and leg room. The instrument board is greatly improved in appearance, with instruments grouped on a raised panel and with longer lighting switch lever, facilitating control of the lights while driving. Head lamps are specially designed to harmonize with the new body lines. A combination caution signal and tail lamp is mounted rigidly on the license plate bracket and conforms with the requirements of all states having lighting regulations. Brake pedal pads are longer and of a design which makes for greater ease and safety. The hand brake lever, like the shifting lever, is moved forward, giving more leg room and making it easier to get in and out. A Yale lock is built into the transmission, making it possible to double-lock the car when idle. The steering wheel is materially improved in appearance and all electrical connections are inside the steering column. The front springs are increased in length and from 1 1/2 to 2 inches in width and built of more leaves of a thinner stock. The rear springs, in addition to being longer, are now semi-elliptical and flat. The front axle is of a design unusually strong. The chamber, or in other words, the front wheels, is increased, making steering easier. A new gear ratio of the rear axle gives increased flexibility and adds to the ability of Dodge Brothers cars as hill climbers.

"KID" BOLDUC DEAD

Alfred "Kid" Bolduc, well known sportsman and lightweight wrestling champion of Maine, died in Lewiston Friday. His death was due to kidney trouble from which he suffered for years. Kid Bolduc claimed and successfully defended the State championship in wrestling, light weight division. He was also an ardent supporter of boxing and brought out Kid Dube and Ruby Levine, two Lewiston boxers. While in the army he was wrestling instructor at Camp Devens. He had traveled about the fair circuit for years with athletic exhibitions and had frequently been seen in the local wrestling and boxing arena.

SOME SWIMMING DON'TS

Gene McClure, noted life guard at Kansas City swimming pool in summer, and Miami beach in the winter, gives the following rules for swimmers:

Don't enter the water until at least two or three hours after eating. Dangerous cramps may result from violation of this rule.

Don't make foolish boasts.

Don't dive off high places without first learning to dive from lower ones; a dive timed incorrectly is dangerous. Don't get excited when a cramp seizes you; a cramp in feet or arms may be massaged away.

Don't call for help in fun.

THOMASTON

Dr. Boyer and Miss Caroline Boyer motored from Waterville Sunday and called on friends.

Mrs. Arthur Elliot and Edward Elliot, have been on a brief motor trip to Boston.

Those who are going on the Beta Alpha picnic Wednesday, be sure and notify Mrs. Charles Singer or Miss Beth Washburn, by Tuesday night, at the latest. Be at the waiting station Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Ralph Cushing has arrived from Chicago and is visiting at his old home on Knox street.

Mr. and Mrs. Remington of Boston, were weekend guests at the Knox House.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Newcombe arrived last night from Galesburg, Ill., and are guests of Mrs. Ida Newcombe.

Mr. and Mrs. George McDonald of Sanford, are guests of Mrs. Eva McDonald.

Anybody having grabs for the County Fair, please leave them with Miss Mattie Spaulding.

E. P. Ahern, Mrs. Fannie Edgerton and Miss Mary Bunker motored to Fairfield Sunday, where they were dinner guests of Mrs. Sadie Patterson. They were accompanied home by Mrs. E. P. Ahern who has been visiting her sister the past week.

Miss Mary Bunker, who is spending the summer with Miss Helen Carr, is visiting friends at Northeast Harbor.

Frank Robinson of Buffalo, N. Y., has been a recent guest at the Knox House.

Mrs. Ethel Tessen of Boston, is the guest of Miss Doris Brazier for two weeks.

Bernard Whitney of Rutherford, N. J., (formerly of Thomaston) is in town for two weeks, the guest of James Feyler. Mr. Whitney sails for the Clyde Line as an officer on S. S. Lenape.

Edward Newcombe arrived Saturday from New York City to spend two weeks with his mother, Mrs. Ida Newcombe.

Mr. and Mrs. George Creighton and son James are visiting relatives in Littleton, N. H.

Mrs. Katherine Bucklin has returned home from a fortnight's visit in New York City.

Rodney Feyler was at home from New York over the weekend to attend the field day celebration at Friendship. Mr. Feyler is driving a new Essex car.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Overlock motored from Portland Sunday. They were accompanied by Master Ross Wilson of Camden who has been their guest for the past week.

Mrs. R. L. Collins, who has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Clara Williams for the past two weeks, left today for Melrose, Mass., for a visit with friends before leaving for her home in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson of China, Me., and Mrs. Lyman of Framingham, Mass., called on Mrs. Charles Singer Sunday.

Miss Ruth Blodgett left today for Boston, after having spent a month with Miss Anna Dillingham.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Thomas returned from Everett, Mass., Friday night, where they visited their son, Sumner Thomas and Mrs. C. H. Gray in Quincy, Mass.

Don't forget the sale Wednesday afternoon on the lawn of Miss Margaret Crandon, given by the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church. If stormy it will be held at the Episcopal church. There will be cooked food, aprons and home made ice cream with plenty of cream in it.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gardiner, who have been motoring through Washington County for the past two weeks, have returned home.

Mrs. Frank F. Curling of Providence, R. I., accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Stuart G. Pratt and daughter Carolyn, motored from Providence and will spend the remainder of the summer with Mrs. A. B. Curling.

Edward B. Heben of Providence, R. I., is spending a few days in Thomaston.

Harris Shaw motored from Boston yesterday, accompanied by Richard Hilberry for a brief visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Shaw.

Maynard Shaw motored from Lewiston Saturday. On his return Monday he was accompanied by Miss Frances Shaw, who will spend the remainder of the week at the Douglas.

Features for the County Fair continue to pour in. Her Highness Princess Dolinda, who will come to live with some fortunate little girl after the Fair, will receive her admirers in Pillsbury's window just as soon as her magnificent wardrobe is ready. Watch the morning parade for the full load of diamonds, which will be sold at the lowest price ever known in Knox County even before the war! No fake about this. After the children's parade the feature of the afternoon will be a boys' minstrel show with some remarkable special features interpolated, while the evening will bring forth a vaudeville show besides a free concert by the entire Rockland band.

NORTH HAVEN

A great number enjoyed the Boatmen's Dance given by Mrs. C. G. Wedd Tuesday evening. Music was furnished by Brown's orchestra Wednesday evening the same orchestra played for the dance at Caldwell's Hall.

Fire started in the Alex Gillis woods Wednesday forenoon. Quite a number went from the village to help extinguish it. Fortunately they were able to do so before much damage was done.

Francis Raymo, New York is a guest of his mother, Mrs. E. Raymond.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Meyer are in Portland for a few days on business.

Everett Spear and family had as their guest Sunday his brother and wife of Warren. Mr. and Mrs. Spear left for Midland, Pa., Monday night, having spent his vacation of two weeks with his parents at Vinal Haven. Mrs. Lewis remains north a while longer.

Geo. A. Agassiz of Boston and a summer resident of North Haven gave a very interesting lecture on Man and the Stars Saturday evening in Library hall. This lecture was given for the benefit of the Library and the proceeds are a little over $200.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Lewis of Midland, Pa., were the guests of honor at a card party given by Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis Monday evening. A very pleasant evening was spent at the close of which delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. James Lewis at present has as her guests her mother, Mrs. Louisa Smith and sister, Miss Maud Smith of Rockland.

Steamer Vinalhaven broke her shaft while on her afternoon trip from Vinalhaven to Rockland Tuesday. Alex. Moffat who is a summer resident at Crockett's River, went to her assistance with his motor boat "Tinker" and brought her passengers to North Haven, where they took the Morse for Rockland at 5 o'clock. Unfortunately it was thick fog at the time of the accident. The steamer tied up to the bell buoy and waited for a tug from Rockland to tow her in for repairs.

The Unity Guild will hold their fair in Library hall Thursday afternoon, Aug. 23. Please remember the date as the proceeds will go toward the new church and the ladies have just a great deal of time into the work and want to make a nice little sum.

Clarence Beverage and Edward Heller of Rockland were in town Wednesday on business.

In union with the whole nation North Haven held her memorial service for the late President Harding Friday forenoon from 10 to 11 o'clock. The services were held at the Kent field after having found there was not room enough in Library hall. Just before the service began the bell in the new church, used for the first time, was tolled. Brown's Orchestra played for the Community singing of the hymns. Following is the order of the service: Hymn, "Near My God to Thee"; reading of 2nd Psalm in

BOOKS FOR THE HOME

A List Selected By the New President of the United States.

Books for the home ought to be chosen with a view to preparation for the life of American citizenship. This would include religion, government and what is termed general literature. A supply should be at hand, not only as a source of study to furnish knowledge and information, but for amusement and entertainment in hours of relaxation. To begin with, there should be something for the mother, for she is the center of the home—something for her individual use, for unless she is able to enter into the real spirit of the reading books, it is unlikely that she will ever be able to impart that taste to her children and guide them in that field with sympathy and discretion. We should probably find that the mothers of most of the great men of recent times, the mothers who have borne that large class which has contributed to the strength and high purpose of modern civilization, have been readers of the Bible. What a great picture of devotional family Bible-study is portrayed in "The Cotter's Saturday Night!"

Among the novelists, there is little doubt that she would find interest in "Les Misérables." When it comes to certain household problems, like nourishment, which is so important for the bodily welfare of all, and the management of children, it is apparent that instruction on these subjects ought always to be available. "The Care and Feeding of Children," by Doctor Holt, and the "Boston Cooking-School Cook-Book," by Farmer, will be found useful.

When next one thought is given to books for the children, "Mother-Goose Rhymes," "Crimm's Fairy-Tales," "Little Women," by Alcott, and "Robin Hood" suggest themselves. These would be supplemented by "A Vagabond Journey Around the World," by Franck, and "The Story of Mankind," by Van Loon.

On turning to what might interest the father when he joins the family-circle at evening, a general-reference history will be wanted which would include an outline of ancient times, the record of Greece and Rome, some account of Continental Europe, a reference to Asia and a more extended story of England and the British Isles. Such a work is the revised edition of the "Outline of World's History," by Fisher. Of course the library must have a good history of the United States.

The three names especially worthy of a place in American bibliography are Franklin's autobiography; "Washington," by Lodge; and "Lincoln," by Charnwood.

Two reference-books are indispensable: a dictionary and an atlas. A standard work on our institutions and government, the principles of which ought to be carefully studied and understood by every citizen, can be found in "The American Commonwealth," by Bryce.

Of poetry, there should be some. But instead of confining the library to one or two volumes of a few of the masters, it would be better to secure a collection which contains some of the best work on many of them. For this purpose the "Home Book of Verse," edited by Stevenson, would be valuable. One poet, one historian, philosopher, dramatist and genius, however, can not be overlooked—every library must have Shakespeare—Calvin Coolidge in the August Delineator.

Milton H. Bird, who has been engaged in farming in North Carolina, was a visitor at his former home in this city over Sunday. He comes again for the weekend after spending the interim with his father, Maynard S. Bird, in Portland. Mr. Bird has disposed of his North Carolina holdings and will take a vacation of several months, joined later by Mrs. Bird.

Charles A. Emery is having a vacation from his duties as agent for the C. H. Berry estate.

Summer P. Mills and son Peter were in the city Saturday on their way to Stonington.

Miss Ida Rokes was home from Boston over Sunday, the guest of her mother, Mrs. Annie B. Rokes.

Master Pierre Havener and sister Arlene are visiting this week their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jones at the Highlands.

Walter Spaulding was in the city Sunday. On his return to Boston he was accompanied by his wife and children who have been at Holiday Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Howard Barrows (Pauline Edgett) of Providence, were guests over Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Thomas. Mrs. Barrows is in Maine to visit her family at Guilford, where her father is at present the pastor of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Walter H. Spear and Mrs. O. B. Lovejoy went Sunday night to Boston for a week.

Another in the mid-summer series of dances at the Country Club will be held Friday night, with Marston's music. All members and their guests are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. B. U. Adams of Cambridge, Mass., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Hall, Masonic street.

Had they elected a mayor down at Crescent Beach Saturday night every vote in the hat would have been cast for Charles P. Crissey of Kearney, N. J., who is occupying "The Boulder." Mr. Crissey's popularity has been increasing steadily since he arrived at the beach, but his status as the most popular man on the beach was finally established Saturday night when he gave a dance at the Pavilion for the Naval Reserves from the Eagle boats 59 and 54 and invited in the entire summer colony. They could not all get in but those who did not peeped through the slats and enjoyed seeing others enjoy themselves. Mr. Crissey signed up Marston's music and had ice cream by the freezer. Being that it was Saturday night we're not going to tell you how late they danced. But, gee! it was one great time. When Mr. Crissey goes back home Thursday night folks will watch the Boston boat's disappearance with unfeigned regret.

Miss Christal Cameron has returned from Matinicus, where she has been the guest for two weeks of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Ames.

Kenneth Le Gage is having two weeks vacation from the C. A. Rose Co. store.

Mrs. Helen P. Knowlton has returned from a fortnight spent in Corinth.

Miss Pearl Borgerson of the Clerk of Courts office, is spending her vacation in Owl's Head.

The second floor of the W. O. Hewett Co. store has lately missed the genial presence of John Newman who is taking a vacation enforced by illness.

Mrs. May V. Richardson is spending the week at Pleasant Beach, the guest of her son, L. H. Richardson.

W. C. Light and family arrived by auto from Arlington, Mass., to spend a few weeks with Mr. Light's sister, Mrs. M. S. Willis of 6 Edwards street.

Esten W. Porter, who has been spending a few days in Rockland and Camden, left last night for his home in New York, his manifold duties cutting short a vacation which he said would have made longer. In addition to being president of the Premium Service Co., Inc., at 50 and 52 Franklin street, New York, Mr. Porter is now general manager of O'Flaherty's New York Suburban List, Inc., which is located at 343 West 37th street, New York, and which handles suburban advertising for many daily and weekly papers. One of Mr. Porter's duties is to prepare illustrated booklets of these suburban towns.

The outing committee of the Methuen Club is desirous that all the members join in an outing at the Wessaweskeag Inn next Friday. Dinner will be served at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Orin Perry, Jr., and young daughter of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., are at the Burpee cottage, Crescent Beach, for a fortnight.

Miss Mary L. Hanley who has been visiting friends and relatives in Rockland, Thomaston and Warren, returned to her home in Norfolk, Va., on the New York express Sunday night.

Standish Perry is home from Boston on a three weeks' vacation, accompanied by Walter J. Rich, Jr., of New York, who will be his guest during that period.

Mrs. E. B. Ingraham has returned from a motor trip to Stokes Springs, accompanied by Miss Leola Partridge, who is now her guest.

Dr. Ruth McBeath and daughter Betty and Edwin Scarlett left yesterday morning on a motor trip to New York, and will return the coming Saturday.

John Philip Waite returned to Boston Sunday, accompanied as far as Portland by Miss Kathleen Snow.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Rugg went yesterday to Portland where they will make a fortnight's visit before returning to their home in New York. Mrs. Rugg has been singing at the Congregational church during her home visit, and congregations have enjoyed her mezzo to the utmost.

Mrs. Gardner L. Wheeler of 34 Holmes street entertained the past week at house guests her daughter, Mrs. F. M. Gray and son Albert of New Haven, and George Parsons of Revere, Mass.

Miss Charlotte Thompson is having a fortnight's vacation from her duties as stenographer at The Courier-Gazette office. She is now visiting in Deer Isle.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Nichols (Lou Thorndike) of Leominster, Mass., were guests at the Thorndike Hotel the last of the week.

A. J. McCabe and James E. Ross of Boston, motored to Rockland Saturday, returning next day. Jim's friends were sorry not to have seen him in a Twilight League game this season.

Mr. John Latty and son Roger of Tremont, Mt. Desert, motored to this city for the weekend and were the guests of Mrs. Latty's brother, Leslie Rich. On their return they were accompanied by her daughter, Miss Mertie Latty and Miss Evelyn Kittredge, who have been spending the past week in this city, and by Mr. Rich, who will spend his two weeks' vacation at his old home in Tremont.

George Smith, who has been down from Massachusetts on a week's vacation, has returned to his duties carrying six extra pounds which he gained down here in God's country.

Richard Gordon of Union is the guest this week of his aunt, Mrs. George W. Bachelier.

Sidney I. Snow, night editor of the Reading Tribune, one of the leading Pennsylvania dailies, arrived in the city Monday morning, having driven all night from Springfield, Mass., a distance of 312 miles, unaccompanied. As he had driven his Ford coupe 300 miles the preceding day from Reading to Springfield he arrived in a somewhat somnolent condition, but a long day's map, after the manner of night editors, set him right. He will spend the remainder of the week among his relatives here.

Miss Ann Chamberland, who has been the guest of Miss Mabel Dorgan the past two weeks, has returned home to Sterling, Conn.

Scott Kittredge arrived from New York the last of the week and will spend the balance of August with his family in South Thomaston.

Miss Lucie F. Winslow, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. A. Healey for several weeks, left yesterday for Massachusetts where she will make a fortnight's visit with friends before returning to Pasadena, Calif.

Rev. Benjamin P. Browne, pastor of the First Baptist church, has returned on his month's vacation, the chief part of which will be spent in Somersworth, N. H., Boston and the White Mountains. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Browne and children. The church choir during Mrs. Browne's absence will be in charge of Mrs. Kelley B. Crie.

Miss Margaret Connor of Philadelphia, who is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Reid, celebrated her 11th birthday last Friday. Out of door games were played by the young folks, after which they went to the home of Mrs. Scott where refreshments were served. A beautiful birthday cake was accorded much attention. The little hostess received many pretty gifts and flowers. Those present were: Bernice Elwell, Laura Tibbets, Dorothy Elwell, Lillian Tibbets, Mary Lacrosse, Cleo Tibbets, Helen Scott, Dorothy Perry, Alex Robertson, Ian Robertson, Baby Allan, Miss Jessie Robertson, Miss Kathryn Robertson, Mrs. John Robertson of Lewiston, Mrs. William Reid and Mrs. L. ## MUSICAL NOTES

Recently enacted in a well-known Main street office: Outside, someone going by whistling merrily the famous popular song, "Barney Google." One of the office boys exclaims: "There goes Barney Google." Dignified young accountant jumps up, hastens to window, looks up and down the street and in an earnest and serious manner inquires: "Who is this Barney Google? I have heard his name a lot lately."

The wedding of Miss Augusta Talbot, daughter of the Dudley Talbots of Dorchester and Camden, and John Andrew Chater, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Andrew Chater of Ithaca, N. Y., will take place early in September at Red Gables, the Talbot summer home in Camden, formerly the Parker homestead, Mrs. Talbot's old home. It will be a very simple affair and the exact date has not been announced as yet. Miss Talbot is a talented violinist and has been busy practicing the summer season in many musical affairs in Camden and vicinity. Mr. Chater is a Cornell '16 man and is located in Ashland, Ohio, where they will reside after their marriage.

At the impressive memorial service held last Sunday in Bangor, a trio of talented musicians, the DuMont Concert Co., of Portland, Oregon, and a selection appropriate to the occasion. This trio is comprised of violin, flute and piano, and their selections was rendered in a most praiseworthy manner. The company happened to be in Bangor and generously gave their services.

Paderewski has revealed one secret of his skill at the piano. He says that for half an hour before each concert he soaks his hands in the hottest water he can find. He finds this makes them flexible and gives them strength. Curiously enough, this is an old trick of American pugilists.

We still think of Giacomo Rimini as the husband of Rosa Raisa, but if Rimini's triumphs keep increasing, he'll know by his own name alone, as all great artists are. Now we say "Rosa Raisa's husband," but soon we will say "The great Rimini," and possibly not even think of Raisa—but that does seem an almost impossible thing, for who that has ever seen Raisa, even if they have not heard her sing, could ever forget that glorious creature! We read of Rimini that on his visit across the water this summer he appeared as "Scindia" in an open-air performance in the Roman Arena of Massenet's "Le Roi de Lahore," which will be sung at the Metropolitan the coming season. He scored a complete triumph with the air, "Promesse de mon Aveir," and was recalled six times.

Another Irish singer has appeared with a romantic name for himself, or is called, a poet-singer, and his name is Cathal O'Byrne. He recently appeared in concert in Chicago, his performance including readings from his own poems and old Gaelic songs which he has gathered in both the northern and southern parts of Ireland. He was dressed in old Gaelic costume.

Geraldine Farrar, prima donna, is the dominating figure in the purchase of the three hundred acre estate of the late Theodore N. Vail of Lyndonville, Vt., which will be utilized as a health resort. The deal is said to involve more than $1,000,000.

Dame Nellie Melba, who always takes a lively interest in young singers, attended a recital given in London during June by Eda Thomas, the gifted American mezzo-soprano, who has made an intensive study of Negro and Creole music. Melba was so delighted with Miss Thomas' singing and interpretation, that she arranged immediately after the recital to take lessons from her in the interpretation of spirituals. "Tell your friends in America," said Dame Melba, "that I am never too old to learn."

Miss Kitty McLaughlin arrives tonight for a brief vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McLaughlin. On August 21 Miss McLaughlin is to be presented in concert under the auspices of the Chapin Class, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Carlin, pianist. This is the first of a professional nature during her stay in Rockland.

The announcement of the concert to be given under the auspices of the Chapin Class on August 21 in the Universalist church, presenting Miss Kitty McLaughlin, dramatic soprano, and Miss Elizabeth Carlin, pianist, brings so much anticipated pleasure to the many friends and acquaintances of these two talented young women, that any allusion to their accomplishments and successes is sure to be of interest.

Miss McLaughlin, who appears on her concert programs as KITTY, but is still affectionately known as Lottie to her many friends, has been having a most successful season, appearing at the Strand Theatre in New York in addition to many concert engagements. Rockland is very proud that one of her daughters has won recognition in music in a city that is not apt to bestow laurels except upon those who, by devotion of art and the hard work that it calls for, command success by honestly winning it. Miss McLaughlin has a glorious voice. She sings with ease and abandon, her voice is true pitch and of lovely freshness and grace, and is combined with this glorious voice is a personality of great charm. In spite of the many successes she has won, she remains the unspoiled and sincere friend. Her personality wins before one hears her voice.

Rockland is also justly proud of Miss Carlin, who has won an enviable place among the younger pianists in New York. Miss Carlin earned her laurels by natural talent developed through devoted effort. She plays with brilliance and discrimination, and her sensitive artistry makes her work particularly happy in accompanying. Rockland will have the pleasure of hearing her both as a soloist and accompanist, as she will play a group in addition to accompanying the singer. Miss Carlin also has a personality that wins—natural and sweet, and far more revealing than her proud friends would have her.

FAITH IN COOLIDGE

Based On His Proved Ability and Religious Convictions, Says Catholic Paper.

The Pilot, official organ of the Catholic archdiocese of Boston printed in last week's issue an editorial eulogistic of the late President Harding and expressing confidence in President Coolidge. The editorial, in part, follows:

"This past week has been a week of national mourning and prayer. Stunned by the news of President Harding's sudden death, the nation is bowed in grief. The nation has lost a faithful and devoted President, the American people a sympathetic friend and counselor, and the world a leader of deep religious convictions, firm reliance on God's Divine Providence, and unflinching love for his fellow men."

"The death of President Harding brought a sense of personal loss to every American. He was manifestly the President of all the people, kindly in manner, charitable in his judgments and unsparring of his time and energy under crushing responsibilities. From the august head of Christendom, His Holiness, Pope Pius XI, the Sacred College, and eminent statesmen the world over have come messages of regret and sympathy."

"Presidents die, but the government goes on. Grief for the noble-hearted chief executive who literally spent himself for the welfare of his fellow citizens is tempered with confidence in his successor. As we ask Almighty God to be faithful to him who is gone, we beseech Him at the same time to guide and direct the President who rules in his place. The confidence that all citizens have in President Coolidge is based upon his proved ability and upon his deep religious convictions. The firm foundation of the nation's unfaltering hope at this critical hour was luminously expressed in the proclamation issued by His Eminence, the Cardinal, in which he said:

"The last message of President Harding was an appeal to the nation's manhood to follow the footsteps of Christ in the path of friendship, harmony and love. The first words of President Coolidge, called suddenly in the dead of night to face unspeakable responsibilities in exacting and exhausting labor for the common good, were an act of sublime faith in the guidance of God's providence. Americans, such leaders are nothing short of gifts of heaven to a nation whose people still refuse to follow the treacherous ways of civil and spiritual anarchy, but instead amid the confusion of the world's turmoil, trust those who trust God."

"Therefore, we mourn for the great and noble President who is gone. But we have faith in America, and we turn with confidence to his successor. That American leads the nations of the earth today is no accident, but a proof of God's providence in blessing her with rulers who have God's law in their hearts and His name upon their lips. Blessed always will be the land whose dying rulers acknowledge Christ's leadership and whose living chiefs beg God's light upon their labors for the people. This is America's greatest consolation in her hours of mourning."

QUALIFIES HIS STATEMENT

Cyrus H. K. Curtis Did Not Mean That American Diplomats Were Selfish.

Cyrus H. K. Curtis of Philadelphia and Camden, in further discussing the diplomatic services of the world said that he did not wish to convey to the American people the idea that the American ambassadors and other diplomatic officers of this government were men with selfish political ambitions.

"I have found," said Mr. Curtis, "the American ambassadors men of irreproachable character, men whom I believe would suffer death first, rather than let the interests of the United States suffer through any wrong doing of theirs."

"When I spoke of the diplomatic services in general, I referred to the services of the European countries."

ROCKLAND'S MAYOR

Will Not Be Bossed and Not a Candidate For Re-election, He Tells Boston Reporter.

Boston Post reporters are writing up the New England mayor's. It came Rockland's turn Saturday and this is what the Boston paper said about "Ed."

Graduates of Boston schools for a period of 20 years prior to 1910 have in their homes a striking memento of Edwin L. Brown, now Mayor of this city.

The engraved diplomas which set forth that Jimmie or Mary had completed satisfactorily the courses prescribed by the Boston School Committee during that 20-year period is the work of the man who now holds the distinction of being a Democratic mayor of this Republican city of 8000 population. For while Mayor Brown has been mayor of Rockland for less than one year and has not, therefore, completed enough service to permit his collection of a full year's salary of $500, he has conducted for many years a lucrative business as a designer and engraver of diplomas for use in public schools and colleges in different parts of the country.

He was employed to do the engraving of Boston school diplomas by the Boston School Committee, and he spent a large part of his time during the two or three months preceding the graduations filling in the names of the pupils who had reached the heights of learning in the Hub.

He is not quite sure whether or not political changes in Boston brought about the loss of that work to him, but his thriving business as a manufacturer of diplomas has kept him busy enough since.

Mayor Brown broke into politics here a year ago, as the result of his being selected as the Democratic candidate for Mayor while he was out of the city.

As in other instances found by the Post in its tour of three New England States, the present mayor of Rockland was enjoying Florida's delightful winter climate at St. Petersburg, when he was notified that he had been nominated by the Democrats. There had been some suggestion of his nomination before he left Rockland for his vacation in the South, but under the warm rays of a Southern sun he had allowed himself to be lulled into the thought and the hope that his party colleagues would let him out.

He had been picked by the organization, however, and he went through like a loyal Democrat, winning the election by more than 100 in a city which normally turns in substantial margins for Republicans on State and national tickets.

His administration has been somewhat of a disappointment, however, to some who supported him for mayor. Rockland, like most New England cities, has within its population certain small, but politically skilful groups, each of which has sought at various times to run the city and run the mayor.

Mayor Brown has been willing to counsel with any of his constituents, but he has refused to accept dictation. But he says he will not be a candidate for re-election and that he proposes to do his duty as an independent mayor as long as he holds the office.

Mayor Brown is 45 years of age. He averages about two hours a day on his official duties, much of the municipal business being done from his private office and his home. He gets much of his physical exercise operating a lawnmower over an extensive frontage at his pleasant home.

As might be expected of a man of artistic tastes, Mayor Brown gets his relaxation from business in painting in water colors and pastel. He has on the walls of his home several examples of his work, and many paintings by other artists.

STRAND THEATRE

This is a week of big things, beginning today with "Environment"—a story of a crook's redemption—the crook being a girl this time. It is a powerful picture, pointing the contrast between the virtuous life of the country, and the evil environment of the city's underworld. It moves with a full quota of action, carries suspense, surprise and thrills—tells a throbbing story of real life, and is finely acted by Alice Lake and Milton Sills, two of our most talented players. Wednesday and Thursday comes the big double bill, headed by "Temporary Marriage," the author of which is Gilbert Patten, the famous Camden novelist. Mr. Patten and a large delegation of Camden citizens will be present on the opening night.

It has been proved that married life with a couple which are approaching the dangerous age of 40 or over is liable to become exceedingly irksome. This is what is reflected in "Temporary Marriage." The couple here are over forty. The husband is regarded by his wife as a "slow poke"—a man without a vestige of romance in his make-up. The wife would keep up with youth. She takes beauty treatment, she dances, she craves affection, the sweet flattery of youth. And divorce is scheduled. Then something tragic happens which spoils her pretty scheme. What is it? Is she brought back to her senses? Does she reflect that her station in life is to accept the inevitable and leave the ways of youth to young men and women? What about it? What you will see is vivid, stark drama which pulsates with deep dramatic chords, which surges forward carrying the spectator in a deep embrace of suspense, which thrusts its characters in a vital drama which teaches the spectator a lesson. It is a compelling story which will make every spectator think about the sanctity of the home.

The second feature, "The Old Nest," Rupert Hughes is the author of this unusual tale of mother love. He has sought to present a cross-section of a universal theme as applied to an American family. All the joys and sorrows connected with raising a family have been dramatized. Each of the children grow to manhood or womanhood with his own individual interests, then leaves the old nest to follow the call of his desires. Only their mother is left in her loneliness and her memories. But, as in every American family, the young remember the old nest and returns to it.—adv.

ANOTHER HOTEL BURNED

The New Holly Inn, a summer hotel, at Christmas Cove, was destroyed by fire Friday. The building, a wooden structure of four stories, caught fire from the roof and the flames were soon beyond the control of the local firemen. Some furniture on the lower floor was saved. The guests escaped without injury. The loss was estimated at $50,000. The proprietor of the inn, A. T. Thorpe, has been conducting summer hotels at Christmas Cove for 20 years.
